Lane and Coburn start a new firm

Keith Lane and Scott Coburn have started a new firm, Lane Coburn & Associates in Woodinville, providing electrical engineering consulting and design services around the country.

Combined they have 35 years of experience in electrical consulting and design/build. Lane and Coburn say they want to better coordinate electrical engineering plans with construction in the field.

“We have seen too many engineering plans that were over designed and under coordinated. You really need to get down into the details and understand all applicable codes in detail,” Lane said.

Scott Coburn has 20 years of experience as a journeyman electrician.
